

Tennis Club Lombardo and UniCredit sign sponsorship agreement through 2025

Tennis Club Lombardo (TCL), a Milan-based sports facility dedicated to tennis, and UniCredit, a pan-European commercial bank, have signed of a partnership agreement that will bind the two until the end of 2025.

This strategic partnership represents an opportunity for growth and development in the tennis sector and confirms UniCredit's focus on young people. In fact, the Bank is committed to flanking and supporting TCL in several tennis events that will take place during the sponsorship period.

In particular, UniCredit will be the main sponsor of two important initiatives that will have annual recurrence:

- UniCredit Cup: major youth tournament that will offer young tennis players a unique opportunity to test their skills and compete at the national level
- UniCredit Tennis Day: annual open day dedicated to children under 16, which will allow young aspiring tennis players to participate in clinics and special training sessions under the guidance of experienced instructors, thus promoting the passion for tennis from the earliest stages of sports development

As a symbol of the partnership, UniCredit's logo will be visible on TCL's tennis courts during sponsored events. The partnership agreement, valid until 2025, marks the beginning of a solid and promising collaboration between two leading players in their respective fields.
